

Cybersecurity Software Developer, Vanguard Integrity Professionals Certified as SBA Woman Owned Small Business

Las Vegas based cybersecurity organization gets full SBA WOSB Certification

LAS VEGAS, NV, October 21, 2022: The federal government will be awarding 5% of all federal contracting dollars to WOSB each year. This includes the increased need and demand for reliable cybersecurity software and services contracts. Enterprise Security software developer, Vanguard Integrity Professionals has been in the cybersecurity marketplace since 1986 and is among the most trusted enterprise security software producer in the world.

The company recently changed ownership to Yvonne Shoup, who is the sister of former owner and founder, Ronn H. Bailey after he passed away last spring. Yvonne began her career with Vanguard Integrity Professionals in 1992 and has been a key component ever since. Yvonne is a respected and valuable strategic member of the Executive Team whose previous role as the Director of Administration, in addition to sitting on the company's Board of Directors, was responsible for Vanguard's employee well-being and corporate administration. As head of Administration at Vanguard, Shoup was the essential link between Vanguard and its employees.
